

RRTA Requires Face Masks to Ride

Beginning Monday, April 20, 2020, all RRTA customers and employees will be required to wear face masks onboard RRTA buses and RRTA property.

Due to the order announced April 15, 2020 from the PA Dept. of Health, all customers and employees of essential businesses will now be required to wear masks.

Any RRTA customer who is not wearing a face mask will not be able to ride RRTA Bus Service. This includes Red Rose Access shared-ride customers.

The order states people who can't wear masks because of a medical condition will not be required to wear one and will be allowed to use RRTA services.

Any RRTA customer waiting for a bus at the RRTA Queen Street Station will need to be wearing a mask or they will be asked to leave the property.

RRTA continues to ask customers to only ride the bus service if it is an essential trip. All non-essential trips are discouraged to help slow the spread of COVID-19.
